“ To Aunt Lorraine, Diane, Gary and all of Karen's beloved nieces and nephews...I am beyond sorry for your loss. I will always treasure our memories of summers at Sand Hill Cove with all the Mullaney cousins crammed into Pep's house! Karen had a gentle sweetness to her that matched her strength, determination, and courage. Over the past few years, when we spoke....It was two Aunt's bragging about their nieces and nephews! Diane, she is smiling down on you... You honored her and have memories that belong only to you. She always knew how strong you were, she told me. So sorry I was unable to attend, so grateful that we got together last summer for some clam balls! Her smile will remain with me. Love and peace to you all.

“Karen was caring, committed, capable and resilient. She could be fiercely independent and tough. She possessed an unusual combination of intellect and common sense that was exemplified in her nursing practice. In the earlier days at “work”, she managed chemo treatments to full clinics and navigated through an irregular, ever-changing set of provisions to meet the needs of the patients. Throughout the 14 years I knew her, life’s blows were dealt, even sucker punches. She got back up and continued to care for others: her patients, her family, her friends.

As Karen’s friend said at the service, Karen was insightful. Her mind quickly separated the pith from the story to identify the true meaning. She was also a good story-teller. In a Humanities class, we took together in 2005, an assignment was to present an oral opinion. I spent too much time “preparing.” Karen, ad lib-ed, engaging the class with her well-articulated opinion about impolite drivers. She faithfully supported me when I was struggling to learn a new procedure. She offered and worked for me on Christmas Day so that I could spend Christmas at home. Karen will be remembered for her generosity and sharp mind that was applied to the benefit of countless others.
